About Me

My degree in Product Design has enabled me to develop great feeling for design, good organisational skills and the ability to work under pressure. I am able to work well both on my own initiative and as part of a team. As a shoe designer I'm looking for innovative solutions that are wonderful and sustainable. I'm seeing my role as a designer as a link in a system that plugs into the boundless creative force of nature and transforms it into the power of commerce which creates wealth through craft, community and culture.
